

Music to Our Ears

By Amy P and Sophie L

Later this week, artists including Rihanna and Justin Bieber are releasing a digital album aimed at raising money for people in Japan.

The track list for this album includes the music of the aforementioned stars and U2, Bon Jovi and Nicki Minaj. And these aren't the only stars doing their bit; Lady Gaga raised $250,000 in just 48 hours! This was from sales of wristbands, from her website, designed by the star herself. The wristbands bear the words "We Pray for Japan" in both English and Japanese and also Lady Gaga's famous symbol: her clawed hand.

Justin Bieber is another musician raising money; he also sold wristbands he had made himself at his concert in Nagoya, Japan. In addition he collected donations at his concert on Saturday.

Music for Relief is an organisation aiming to bring together successful musicians with the common goal of providing aid to those in trouble. This year, they have managed to get together a group of artists including Enrique Iglesias and Linkin Park.

With all this choice, what's to stop you donating, helping the Japanese people devastated by the earthquake and tsunami and getting a phenomenal album out of it as well?

Headline Acts— Justin Bieber and Rihanna raise money for Japan.

Gaga about Wristbands - Lady Gaga's exclusive designed wristband.